

2004 PROPHECY

PREVIEW

DR. MARK T. BARCLAY

I predict ...

I predict that the conflict in Iraq will not go the way it's been planned and will yet bite those who have been feeding it.

I predict that the White House will scramble to appease its allies and spank its enemies, but this will do little for your house. It's time to get your house in order. As for me and my house, we shall serve the Lord.

I predict that the American Church will address the lethargy plague and begin to fight back. We will begin to get our inner energy back.

I predict that the Church will come to the conclusion that worldly possessions, sports, hobbies, and getaways won't bring the peace or solution to life that is wanted, and believers will instead begin to encourage themselves "in the Lord."

I predict that the Democratic Party will cause a terrible conflict that they themselves will actually bleed from, and some will even surrender their careers.

I predict that closure to things left open, solution to unsolved issues, and restoration to past broken relationships will be the beauty of this year.

I predict that satan is coming to reap where he has sown. Repent now, fix everything, and forgive everybody. Your style of life must fit Jesus' if you will survive the day.

I predict that even the law and society will clamp down on many of its abominable things yet simultaneously vote for and allow others to grow and be established.

I predict that in 2004, most believers will admit that most of the things they practice are not working for them, so they will go back to the basics of Christianity and rebuild their lives from there.

I predict that America's economy will not spring back the way some wish, even though desperate effort will be applied. Christians must tithe and make their declaration of independence from the world's systems.

I predict that the year 2004 for many will not be a maintenance year but a year to advance. Everything from buildings, computers, vehicles, equipment, and missions will be pushed forward by the Holy Spirit and His ordained leaders.

I predict that believers who have been standing on the Word of God will see a breakthrough with their children and, in fact, other parts of the family as well. For many, 2004 will be a year of satisfaction.

I predict that Acts 2 will be fulfilled right before our eyes, as young people will not only come to God's house, but many of them will take on the responsibility and be promoted to positions in the church.

I predict that many churchgoers will squeeze every bit of life out of every song they sing and every scripture they hear or read. I see a desperate desire in most to enjoy the safety of a good shepherd and a good church.
